FOREWORD

In preparing a pictorial review of the 1960-1961 school year, the co-editors of the Maroon and Gold have chosen the HORIZONS aimed at and attained by the classes and organizations of Whitney Point Central School. A new high school principal, caps, gowns, and diplomas, additional names on the honor roll, a new grade school, new band uniforms and a few new trophies are climaxed by the retirement of Supervising Principal, Caryl E. Adams. Mr. Adams has been principal at Whitney Point Central for seventeen years.

DEDICATION

KATHRYN M. SCOTT

Retire and enjoy it-so says Mrs. Kathryn M. Scott of Park Street, Whitney Point, N. Y. When school buses started running last fall, and even though her daughter Marie must sign in at the usual time, Mrs. Scott stayed right at home and filled her days with housework, reading and gadding about. Did she miss school ? No, she was quite happy about staying home, although, she confessed she did miss the students and teachers. But then, her thoughts carried her along to a winter trip to Florida and soon it would be spring. She would visit her daughter Marion and family in Buffalo. And who knows? Maybe another summer would mean another trip with her family to some new and interesting corners in the United States.

Born in Kirkwood, Mrs. Scott was graduated from Cortland Normal. Then she taught in the ole Whitney Point village school. When centralization came, Mrs. Scott came right into the new school with her third graders in 1936. It has been a steady line of third graders year in and year out until June 1960, when she retired from teaching school.

SENIORS

Last minute preparations.

An able assistant.

15 minutes to go.

You gotta be married to this job!

It looks just like silk, I have to tell everybody it's rayon.

It's Eve, she's my new girlfriend.

Wheat Puffies make you strong!

BROTHER GOOSE

"Brother Goose," a three act comedy, was presented on January 19, 20, and 21 by the Sr. Class. This hilarious comedy with a mix up between plans for a house, and plans for a football game was directed by Mr. John M. Sullivan, Senior English teacher. Miss Pauline Duquette and Miss Elizabeth Ellsworth assisted Mr. Sullivan with the make-up. The Seniors held their class dinner at the Oakland Hotel on the evening of January 21. A good time both before and after the play was enjoyed by all.

Whose plans are these?

Tell us about living in an insane asylum.

Is it an orphan?

SENIOR PLAY

Zipping along at 50 m.p.h.

What is this, A Race Riot.

Where's that kid?

You look wonderful.

I'd much rather go as Martha Washington.

FACULTY

Mr. Caryl E. Adams

Mr. John V. Rugg

Mr. Osmer J. Brooks

Dear Seniors,

Congratulations on your graduation. As you receive your diploma a great surge of joy will well up into your heart and you will then truly realize that all of your work, study, drudgery and efforts has brought you an achievement worthy of it all.

The horizons in the world look gloomy indeed. Humanity is beset by all of the evils which mankind can concoct. Greed, lust, war and actual annihilation loom with all its terror like angry clouds of doom.

What you do may bring that faint ray of hope for a better world. Remember this: You may succeed even though others have no faith in you but you never can succeed without faith in yourself.

Prof. Caryl E. Adams

In Memoriam

Mrs. Dora Barrows taught 8th grade English at Whitney Point Central School from 1947 to 1958. Then she taught a sixth grade class downtown until she became ill in January 1960. Her death in June 1960 greatly saddened all the students, her many friends, and teachers in the central school district. Mrs. Barrows was born in Vestal, and was graduated from the Union Endicott Teachers Training Class in 1920. She continued her studies at Cortland State Teachers College during summer sessions and by extension courses. She also taught at Center Lisle, Choconut Center and Oakdale. Always interested in school and faculty activities, Mrs. Barrows enjoyed the basketball games, music programs, and class parties. She is survived by her husband, Mr. Erford Barrows, son Jim and grandson Kenny Pendell of Center Lisle.

JUNIOR PLAY

Prompter, Maureen Hickey, discusses first act with director Miss Barbara Prackneck.

DATE BAIT

For their first dramatic effort, the Class of '62 chose "Date Bait." The play was capably directed by Miss Barbara Prackneck, the Junior English teacher. A teenage girl who is fascinated with every man she looks at is the center of the whole plot. The play was presented on March 15, 16, and 17. On the evening of the 17 the Junior Class held their pre-play dinner at the Oakland Hotel.

Go on with your practicing, Harley. Harold and I want to talk.

How much longer before I can take the braces off my teeth?

MAROON AND GOLD

Another horizon has been reached as the Maroon and Gold goes into its twenty- first year of recording Whitney Point Central School history. In June 1940 the Maroon & Gold came out as a loose-leaf project sold by Intercollegiate Press. Since that year it has progressed to a hard cover one hundred and ten page portrayal of school life for about 1700 WPCS students. Thanks to the Chenango Studios for pictures, Frank A. West Co. for printing and about 70 advertisers, the Maroon and Gold once again has been sold to subscribers for $2 per copy.

POINTER WEEKLY

POINTER WEEKLY
About 1/3 of the 1700 students in WPCS get a Pointer Weekly. This year staff members have stayed after school Wednesday night with advisers, Mrs. Glynn and Mrs. Corcoran, to assemble and distribute to homeroom teachers copies of the Pointer Weekly. They are given out in homerooms Thursday morning. ESSPA delegates returned from Syracuse Convention in October with the plaque trophy for editorial page. Copies of the school paper from April to December 1960 were entered, as usual, in Columbia Scholastic Press Ratings in March.

TRACK

Whitney Point trackmen completed another successful year and continued their domination of dual meets to make their record umblemished for the 4th successive season in dual meet competition. They first defeated Chenango Valley and Homer in a triangular meet. The team then was successful as defending champions in capturing the Section IV Class B Relay Meet at Vestal for the 2nd season in a row and brought home the coveted trophy. Then followed three successful ventures against Chenango Forks and Newark Valley in the first followed the whomping score of 93 to 25 over Oxford and a close call of $59\frac{1}{2}$ to $44\frac{1}{2}$ to 44 over Windsor and Sidney respectively. The local squad then returned as defending champions to capture the Class B Section IV Trials. A dual meet brought defeat to Greene before the local squad placed third in the Class B Finals & third again in the Susquenango League Meet.

The local squad continued to place sectional champions by the outstanding efforts of K. Goodenough in the Hop-Step and Jump. Keith holds the Section Title and competed in his speciality at the State Track Meet at West Point.

Other outstanding performances were turned in by hurdlers Pat Farrell and Jerry Kenyon, sprint men Elroy Pratt, Keith Goodenough, Mickey Glynn and Bob Larkin, quartermilers Tom Farr and Tom James, distance runners Harris Utter, Don Croft, Don Brainard, Dave Watson, and Field events men Sam Pratt, Dick Lamb, Gayle Cook, and Dick Knapp.

ADVERTISEMENTS

WPCS Cafeteria has no surplus food problems on the days when Pizza is on the menu. High school students, especially, delight in eating not just one,but two or three, of the delicious pies from SAVIO'S.

MAROON and GOLD staffs, since 1955 have been privileged to work with Chenango Studios for most of their yearbook photography. Many times each year Mr. Patrick Cribbs was at Whitney Point Central School to record by picture all the familiar faces and events. Everyone was so saddened by his serious illness in the summer and death on October 29, 1960. Staff members feel most fortunate to have at WPCS Mr. Cribbs' son, Terry, and Chenango Studios of Binghamton carry on their fine work in photography this year.
